

Freyja, Wake the Dead

An unpublished essay written in 2018 by Louis Beam

*FREYJA, wake the dead, call them from their grave
I miss the time, in which there was still hope
Call our soldiers who knew only loyalty
Freya, wake the dead, otherwise our country will die!*

From Heroic Acts to Dead in Life

While one can understand the sentiment behind the words of this current song from Germany, it is in reality a funeral dirge for the German Nation and all of Western Europe. While we certainly recognize that this verse is a plaintive plea for help, one must say that if you are depending on the dead to save you ... then you will just end up with them. The real difference here is between the living who lament and the dead who know nothing. For the dead you would summon died a hero's death defending their Folk, while you go to the grave a coward who did nothing to secure the existence of your people nor to provide a future for your children.

It is the living who must awaken, not the dead. Let the dead take care of the dead. It is for the living to take care of themselves. Whilst it is true that all of us end up in the grave at some point, it is also unmistakably the case that many amongst us today have never really lived the full, animated contest of life. Rather, most have just passed away their time living in a purposeless, meaningless way ... coupled to a vain, self absorbed, often self-destructive, egotistical materialism. An existence of no value to humankind in general and even of less value to one's ethnic folk in particular. In short, a life of nothing more than that of a warm, breathing, passive dolt fit for neither life nor the cold casket.

Acta non Verba (action not words)

For most Europeans and their American racial cousins, there is no inspired necessary resistance to an evil fate for ourselves and those who come after us. No committed struggle with evil where you risk all --- your freedom, your family, your life --- in hope of preserving all of them in future safety. Rather, the choice by the majority of white folk is to risk ... nothing. Therefore nothing of substance is achieved for those principles that many claim to love and hold dear ... claims that are but empty, hollow words. For such people there is no committed struggle for folk and values that all agree should not be violated and which of necessity must be defended. When the drippings of such lives are boiled down to their essence they reveal only talk, only vulgar racial posturing, coupled to useless virtue signalling added in for spice. All of this from those who live far from the struggle in remote self-created racial safe spaces. A cricket's chirp of approval for other men's efforts on behalf of you and your family while fearfully giving no meaningful support to those with the courage to actually resist. Acta non verba!

Schadenfreude (being a malicious pleasure in the misfortunes of others)

In fact for the present frail generations of white men, there is evidence of what can only be interpreted as nothing more than measly "resistance voyeurism." This spineless behaviour is often nothing more in effect than mere Schadenfreude. Were that this was the full extent of apathy by modern whites shown worldwide ... but it is not. Further exhibited by such characterless people is the pathetic conduct where those who do resist for your benefit and that of your family, for your beliefs, as well as for their own - are quickly denounced by cowardly wretches who go to great pain to distance themselves from the accused and prosecuted folk fighter ... leaving these real men and women not supported or assisted when they become casualties of state suppression. Abandoned by the very people who are to be the beneficiary of their efforts, such fighters are quickly ruined; socially, politically, financially and finally, with their reputation sullied, their pockets empty and their mentality shattered ... their families then often flee them for relative safety.

Men of whom you have heard and, to your complete knowledge, undergo the modern day version of being drawn and quartered in the public square, are left to pay impossible legal fees to defend themselves. When that cannot be done they find themselves deserted to rot in their prison cells without assistance by those for whom they had fought. Perhaps you think these words harsh? Try being one of those who risks everything for their folk.

Death Comes Early

Today, most men act, think and live as if they are already dead. Their lifeless spirits fail to animate them to resist, while they yet still breathe. Such men deprive themselves of giving meaning and purpose to the one life they have. Instead they choose to join their lifeless spirit with the bleached bones of the already dead. Sitting idle, watching closely, as evil men destroy their heritage, culture, and the future of their children, they act dead rather than fight back. This behaviour of men, now laid out before you in these spoken words, leaves the great need for a summary description to label it: "deracinated protoplasm." This fitting epitaph nailed to their casket of life is accurate. People who have in effect become nothing more than deracinated protoplasm (DRPs) exhibiting all the collective symptoms of physical, mental and moral atrophy. Should perhaps, one consider that the perpetrators of evil are more worthy of respect - though they are mortal enemies - than those who act like snivelling cowards and allow destruction to come upon their own heads and that of their children without resisting forcefully?

Does the Future exist?

Yet astonishingly, we the "les misérables" of today have the same blood and sinew of our once fierce ancestors who knew little bounds to their courage or determination and who readily sacrificed their own fortune, future, and lives in defence of their folk. In total contrast this modern degenerating human life form and soul disorder may be explained in a single word --- inanition (The word "inanition" is derived from the Latin word "inanis," which means "empty, void, vain or worthless.") There is thus a reason for this cowardly behaviour, it is the mental disease of inanition (the loss of social, moral, spiritual or intellectual vitality) which are all symptomatic disorders of those who have become empty intellectual caskets created to hold state sponsored mind control swill. A moral disorder fostered by the dictates of conniving overlords who have much of the United States and Western Europe under their dominance. These modern mental slave-masters use stolen wealth to sustain and promote propaganda, utilising mind control experts in the media and state apparatus i.e. Hollywood, television, electronic communications, music, books, the education system, bureaucracy etc ... and whose sole goal is to direct the thoughts of each one of us from early childhood to death. This ongoing processing of the psyche produces a crippling mental disease in what would be otherwise healthy people. This process is therefore appropriately labelled MISS - Mental Inanition State Sponsored. A mind destroying disorder from which but few manage to free themselves once psychologically poisoned.

MISS and its effect on the masses

MISS is a purposefully created psychopathic social disorder of the mind/ life/soul and has a clear objective by its designers: the creation of human untermensch (under-men) who are obedient to and subject to all state diktats whether social, political, educational, moral or cognitive reasoning.

Producing thereby human Pavlovian dogs who, once trained, begin to oppose their own rational self-interest and commence mentally salivating with delight at the mere thought of destroying their own culture and heritage. This attitude over time produces a common psyche autoimmune disease causing one to detest and avoid serving one's own core self interest and survival, while concurrently working to destroy the healthy social aspirations of one's kith and kin via cultural Marxism.

This phenomenon of MISS is a tool of the elitist mind controllers who issue pseudo cultural diktats (an order or decree imposed by someone in power without popular consent) working upon unknowing mental children of any age. This psychic process of distress begins mentally incapacitating its victims at an age of no later than that of five years.

The Brain Snatchers

Implemented through state education and the informational media of all kinds, healthy brains are snatched from their owners. It is a constant process of creating mental disjunction between a thriving creative cultural mind and an unhealthy, self-obliterating hatred of self, coupled to an unknowing personal desire for destruction. The victims soon come to accept a foreign set of ideals as their own, thereby developing an abhorrence of their own culture and heritage and indeed contempt for all Western culture. This melting down of heritage and folk ways that organically exist among any people, leaves only a compromised, troubled dross that is promoted by the state to rule over all who object and resist. This process produces over time a lost population submissive to governmental ruling elite. The “elite” who have self-chosen themselves to determine for all others what is good and what is bad based on the interests of those who govern. Finally, linked to this destructive self-questioning of one’s own values, is the phenomenon of Western civilization becoming a cultural spittoon composed of meaningless, purposeless and mentally vacant men and women who are but human effluent to be disposed of by those who pollute their minds. Creating a people who have no values other than personal self-gratification. This then is the Untermensch with the personal negative character that has been spawned to replace the Will To Power that former generations displayed in their lives and habits.

It is easily comprehended then that this appalling lack of personal character and commitment to the survival of one’s own nation state and the historical people who created it, is a sickness, a sickness now so readily displayed in both Europe and to a lesser degree in the United States by large numbers of people. This is evidence of a symptomatic mental disorder of the worst sort. A malaise of the mind displayed by those who have been propagandised by malevolent indoctrination from early childhood in public schools, media, by government, religion, social/financial pressures and yes, even by some parents, who were themselves also indoctrinated to abandon all loyalty and individual effort to preserve one’s own folk and a future for their children. Therefore, the former steadfastness and resolute courage of these peoples have been replaced by an empty life consisting only of thinking of personal well-being, with no thought for the fate of children and grandchildren who will inherit this cowardly new world they foster upon them.

Generation dead

As a result of mental programming, three or four generations of white people worldwide have been trained to expect the state to protect them and look out for their best interest - neither of which compromised states are willing to do unless forced to do so, or it is somehow in the state’s interest to act. A people thus taught to believe there is no need to take any individual responsibility for the welfare of folk and homeland beyond some perceived “normal” materialistic standard of profit and loss produces a hollowed out nation of individuals who WILL stand by idle while their nation crumbles under their feet.

It is indisputable that white folk specifically, have been taught since the end of World War II, to think that one need only resist forcefully in defence of a nation when given permission by the state to do so and while obeying orders by the State of how to proceed. Needless to say, but it must be anyway, any such permission to act with an accompanying call to arms by the state is always in the interest of those who control the state and almost never in the interest of those called upon to actually do the fighting and dying.

Mentally conditioned people are then to only actually resist when ordered to do so by the government. Individual responsibility to defend one’s heritage, or culture and to act manfully in defence of self-preservation of folk is in the time span of less than a hundred years abolished from our historical character. That this is planned destruction there can be no doubt as such goals have been openly announced.

No call to arms

There will therefore be no call from any government to resist subjugation. In fact authorities issue the opposite order - stand down and do not resist - with punishment for any opposition to state directed national destruction. For those who disobey and do resist the least punishment meted out is social ostracism. Imprisonment for those who do not allow for what clearly amounts to criminal intent by the self-destructing state. Freedom to act, liberty to resist, and folk self-preservation abolished in a single historical heartbeat. Total abandonment of well over 100,000 years of an ethos of learned responsibility requiring the individual to fight for and preserve his race and ethnic heritage is declared criminal. Outlawed is cultural behaviour that insured a future for kith and kin even if it meant selfless sacrifice of one's own life as a human bulwark preventing cultural/racial genocide.

Freya and sod covered bones

One need only look to modern Germany which destroys itself as an example necessary to understand all of the above completely, and to see the truthfulness of these statements. Further, upon reflection, you can become equally convinced that this mental illness of the present living could be cured quickly with no need to call upon Freya and the sod-covered bones of brave men who came before your lifetime.

Two separate people occupy Germany today. The first such people are native sons and grandsons of German soldiers who, regardless of what conclusion you may have reached concerning their motivating political ideology, are nonetheless men who fought the entire combined world in battles of iron will, displaying great bravery and a resolute sense of duty coupled with steadfast courage during World War II. Such behaviour was not out of character or ethos for Germans; in fact it was exactly the character of German men, and for that matter woman, long before Julius Caesar and Tacitus wrote of them 2,000 years ago, relating such stories as that of Herman in his fight for Germanic folk against Roman invaders. The equal courage of German soldiers of two millennia later, whose selfless sacrifice of life during World War II can only be disputed emotionally not logically, for it is clear millions of them and their families died steadfastly in total resistance to overwhelming odds. There are many more historical examples by other folk faced with similar circumstance i.e. the ancient Spartans of Greece stood steadfastly to their post of death at the Pass of Thermopylae. In modern times, one must point out that in 1942, the untrained and out gunned Russian youth who often without functioning weapons stood resolutely to their death in the path of advancing German armies while giving up their lives heroically in a hopeless (at first) struggle against the so very well trained and equipped German forces of that era. To stupidly imply that the Germans were not heroic is to imply that those who defeated them were cowards - this cannot stand! One need only hear the story of a 17 year old Russian youth ordered into the front line against advancing German armies in 1942, without training, without a weapon or ever having fired a weapon, with only instructions to resist and to pick up the weapon of a dead comrade at first opportunity! Resist he did! And many more like him until the position was overrun by Germans and for this particular seventeen year old - only the advent of nightfall allowed him to escape while crawling on his belly to continue the war to its final end.

Two Generations as a Spittoon

Now, at this moment you must consider this: just two generations after the Germanic warriors of 1939-1945, the literal descendants of these very brave men, their own grandsons and granddaughters of the same blood, households, and linkage-greet the invader who enters their country with a pleasant welcome and with signs of support to encourage more foreigners to join the parasitism of home, culture, and heritage. Signs which are held up to make comfortable the invader and his destruction of the people holding up the placards. Slogans that demand the German government open borders wider and for more hordes of foreigners to come across those open borders as immigrants of destruction. How can this be? Impossible to believe, did you not know it to be a fact already. Astonishingly these are the grandsons and granddaughters of Waffen SS men with the same genetic makeup, the same innate potential courage, the same possible "will to power," and exactly the same inherent abilities - who now display no more backbone than a soggy wet noodle picked up from the floor of one of the many Chinese restaurants now in Berlin, Germany. How could this be possible one ponders? What malignant disease of the mind would so warp and weaken such a brave race of people, over such a short time period? More important still is the question of - how is such a debilitating condition of the mind and soul produced? For only in knowing the cause of this mental virus can a hope for prevention of its spread be found. Finally, it must be discussed, what is the cure for those who are already infected?

Questions and more questions

So many questions, so little time to save civilization from what is clearly a delusional psychotic disorder of a people who now WELCOME their own end and that of their cultural folk; the exact opposite behaviour of the previous war generation. Can there be anything more astounding and improbable to believe in world history? Rhetorically of course the answer would be no, but only if one is not cognizant of modern methods of mental and scientific indoctrination, mental “guilt” programing, and emotional manipulation of succeeding generations, coupled to an unceasing propaganda of self-hate generated by media/state actors with cloaked agendas that demand cultural, political, and racial self-extermination.

World War II - the deep state version

Furthermore, Germany, which started World War II without reason, without cause, without any injustice against their people, with nothing but cold blue-eyed malice in their hearts for all the rest of mankind and because they thought themselves supermen superior to all others, which when coupled to an absolute military desire to conquer the entire world, including a well-planned invasion of the territory of the United States and occupation of Texas and Canada, while simultaneously semi-peacefully occupying Central and South America in a reestablishment of modern racial colonialism to exploit racially inferior indigenous peoples allowing for, in the sum, total world domination of trade, science, technology, and political hegemony for the next one- thousand years, while secretly exterminating six million Jews to provide lamp shades and soap for a growing world market, all of which was designed plotted and planned by evil Germans to lead to the colonisation of the moon and Mars for the greater glory of the Third Reich. In addition, since all white skinned people are guilty by skin association of aiding or abetting these German super-men all white skinned peoples must auto-genocide themselves. This is mandatory even if you were born seventy or more years after the war in another part of the world. A part of the world that may have fought against the 3rd Reich! The above, drivel, in some form or fashion has been or is currently pounded into people’s minds from the cradle to the grave. Anti-German and by extension, anti-white skin values of self hate and rejection of culture and historic right to exist.

Is there a single item above you have not yet heard, been told, or taught to believe in your “schooling,” your movies, your daily radio/tv lectures and reminders of the “six million”? If not, you were NOT paying attention and are definitely not listening to the taught history and -causes of World War II - written of course - by the victors.

Alice believes in Wonderland

Now if we may return to the present 21st century where evil empires no longer exist and fair and democratic governments with nothing but the interests of their citizens motivating their good governance, care and intentions abide - what conclusions can be drawn? The answer is none - if you are a mentally indoctrinated subject of mind-altering theorems and beliefs totally not based on the realities of truth, experience, and historical documentation. If you then fall in this category of uncomprehending - dolt citizen/subservient subject- you may take solace (what there may be of it) in the fact that while you are a part of the vast majority of mentally dysfunctional subjected citizens through perhaps no fault of your own for the onset of such wondrous beliefs, you do have total responsibility for the systematic corruption of your thinking process continuing beyond the ending of the present sentence.

Genetic remembrances

It is in your blood to resist the destruction of your folk. You are only required to call forth those magnificent genes that took the modern world from the Stone Age to the moon. You must overcome the corruption of the soul and mind you have been subjected to. Those who remain docile will not participate in the victory to come for our folk. For the healthy among us it is in our blood to resist and then fight.

Two Paths to Follow or Not

How could this corruption of our being be? How can we come to understand this? We must have an answer and accept it or we are lost in a one-way journey toward midnight. The answer is really in reality so simply it begs explanation: the weakness inside you is a created mental illness that could be as rapidly cured as it was so quickly produced. Free your minds from learned self-hate and the late 20th century dogma of effeminate materialistic self-destructive behaviour for men and the dissolving feminist destruction of the glory of Womanhood. Free the mind from corruption of thought processes and the man and woman are reborn. Do that and the German nation along with all of the West will regain its strength. Reborn nations will grow from the same blood and sinew that flows through the Germans alive today as it did but yesterday for those now in their graves. Germany can save itself without the aid of the dead, the living must simply begin to think!. So may the rest of the so called "West" the United States and Russia (which is much further along to national salvation than the rest of the white world). The elites know this quite well and fear it without rest. They understand as well as you do, or should, that a free mind cleansed of perverse doctrines is all that is required to regain the health of the Indo-European world.

The Illness is worse than the cure

The cure is then quick. Obtaining the will to implement the cure is the primary struggle. Germany (our example of debauchery) and all Europeans wherever they live, must engage in a war for the mind.

A word of warning and of contemplation for readers who look down their nose at the spineless character and self-destructive thinking of youthful Germans and Europeans of today; they are in fact only ten to fifteen years ahead of your own children in their indoctrination and spineless character. A child of six years today, will think like, act like, and cheer their own destruction, just as the Germans are now doing, after finishing twelve years of public school and a couple years or more of college indoctrination. Public education has, after its capture by elitist controllers, been doing but one thing very efficiently: cultivating mental illness. Today, throughout the Western world institutions of "learning" are but gulags of self-hatred and mental abuse from primary education to post graduate.

Freya, where are you?

We return to this melancholy death song and its implications to those of us who are alive today: "Freya, wake the dead, call them from their grave" is not the cry of a strong healthy folk; it is rather useless beseeching by the faint-hearted, who, while wallowing helplessly in dysfunctional mental weakness are unwilling to take action to save themselves. An ethereal hope which wistfully depends upon the heroics of others---even if the others are dead and can do nothing to save them. Helpless plaintive moaning, hiding inaction. Miserable death dirges, that abandon the examples of a thousand generations who lived and breathed before the present one. Rather than following historic examples which demand conscious effort to take action for self-preservation, they invoke the dead. This whimpering, pitiful pleading of helpless lamentation is but the whispering death rattle of a vanishing race who are but mere decades from the graveyard of history. A pre-rot that must be set in the mind first before the corporal body ever makes it to the graveyard. All of this is the result of self-destruction, a malady which cannot inflict the dead but only the living. It is therefore, the living who we must call upon to awake and thereby heal themselves, not the dead.
